

Doris Sommer // For a Collaborative and Interdisciplinary Lexicon of Cultural Agents

Doris Sommer, Director of the Cultural Agents Initiative at Harvard University, proposes in this book semantic neologisms in order to understand the new dynamics of our world in constant acceleration, a way to create new ideas and new construction tools. It is a double invitation: on the one hand to develop definitions that articulate an interdisciplinary lexicon and on the other, to suggest missing words. What is important here is that the intuitions of the new lexicon pass into public discourse.
